1. Background

The 16 Days of Activism against Gender-Based Violence is an international campaign which takes place each year. It commences on 25 November, the International Day for the Elimination of Violence against Women, to 10 December, Human Rights Day. It was originated by activists at the first Women's Global Leadership Institute in 1991 and is coordinated each year by the Center for Women's Global Leadership. It is used as an organizing strategy by individuals and organizations around the world to call for the prevention and elimination of violence against women and girls.

In support of this civil society initiative, under the leadership of the UN Secretary General, António Guterres, the United Nations Secretary-General's UNiTE by 2030 to End Violence against Women Campaign (UNiTE) calls for global action to increase awareness, galvanise advocacy efforts and share of knowledge and innovations. In recent years, the UNiTE campaign has utilized the colour orange to represent a brighter future, free from violence against women and girls, as a unifying theme running through its global activities.

Launched in 2008, the UNiTE Campaign is a multi-year effort aimed at preventing and eliminating violence against women and girls around the world. UNiTE calls on governments, civil society, women's organizations, young people, the private sector, the media and the entire UN system to join forces in addressing the global pandemic of violence against women and girls. The campaign builds on existing international legal and policy frameworks and works to synergize the efforts of all UN offices and agencies working to prevent and end violence against women and girls.

In Viet Nam, the national action month on gender equality (GE) and gender based violence (GBV) prevention and response (later will be referred as NAM GE&GBV) would be organized annually from 15 Nov to 15 Dec, was approved by the Prime Minister in October 2015 under the National Action Programme on GE 2016-2020. It was later on renewed under the Resolution 28/NQ—CP on the National Strategy on Gender Equality 2021-2030 which was approved on 03/03/2021 as one of the solutions to implement the Strategy. Since 2015, the NAM GE&GBV has been coordinated annually by Ministry of Labor-Invalid and Social Affairs (MOLISA) on behalf of the government and it attracted millions of participants to join the efforts of ending GBV in the country.

The NAM GE&GBV covers the period of 16 DOA, so since 2016, UN Women Viet Nam Office (VCO) as a chair of UN's Gender Thematic Group, coordinated with Government agencies, embassies, international local NGOs as well as private sectors to organize the campaign. The 16DOA and NAM GE&GBV in 2020 in Viet Nam coordinated by VCO focusing on raising awareness of the public and survivors of GBV on the available services, especially in the context of COVID-19 with the message "You Are not Alone" reached 189 media hits, over 2,000 participants in offline event, nearly 8 million people and 13,000 engagements reached on social media.

The World Health Organization (WHO) declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global pandemic on March 11, 2020. Since then, Viet Nam has experienced 4 waves of the pandemic and is heavily affected by the 4th wave which hit the country from the end of April 2021. Multi-dimensional impacts of the pandemic on vulnerable groups of population, especially on women and children are so heavy. In the COVID-19 context, social distance leads to economic degradation for many families, making high tension among family members. Subsequently, violence against women and girls (VAWG), and particularly domestic violence, has escalated around the world. Crowded homes, substance abuse, limited access to services and reduced peer support are exacerbating these conditions. Before the pandemic, national report on violence against women in Viet Nam in 2019, conducted by Ministry of Labour, Invalids and Social Affairs (MOLISA), General Statistics Office (GSOs) and UNFPA indicates that even before the pandemic, nearly 63% ever married/partnered women have experienced at least one form of violence by a husband/partner at some point in their life; specifically, 13.3% experienced sexual violence, 11% experienced physical violence. Many of these women are trapped in their homes with their abuser during the lock down time to control COVID-19. A rapid assessment conducted by UNICEF, UNFPA and UN Women with the support of DFAT found that women and children in particular were at a greater risk of during the period of social isolation. Economic stress, disaster-related instability, and limited access to or knowledge of services are known to increase the risk of violence against women and children. The study found that in Viet Nam more than one in three women experienced at least one form of violence during the pandemic period, with more women reporting experiencing controlling behaviors and economic violence. The incidence of violence increased significantly during the pandemic, reflected in an increase in calls to shelters and helplines for women and children experiencing violence. In the first 6 months of 2021, the Peace House Shelters Hotline received nearly 1,200 calls of women and children subject to violence, an increase of 140% compared to the same period of 2020. While calls to helplines increased, limited access to and availability of services as a result of the social isolation period, paired with fears of contracting the virus, reduced help-seeking in person. Gender-based violence continues to be one of the most pressing issues faced by women in the time of COVID-19 and needs to be properly addressed, in a joint effort by governments, civil society, women’s organizations, young people, the private sector, the media and the entire UN system to call for the prevention and elimination of violence against women and girls.

In this context, UN Women, UN’s Gender Thematic Group and other national stakeholders who are government agencies, embassies, international NGOs and local NGOs as well as private sectors are planning to jointly implement a series of online and offline activities to continue our efforts to end violence against women and children, especially in the crisis context of COVID-19 with the country theme: "Orange the World: Strengthen prevention and services for survivors of violence in COVID-19 pandemic".

One of the key activities of the UNiTE campaign and NAM GE&GBV 2021 is to develop, publish and disseminate communication materials to partner agencies, service providers, survivors and general public to raise awareness of eliminating violence against women. Therefore, UN women is looking for a supplier to provide production of communication products for 16DOA & NAM GE&GBV 2021 in Viet Nam.
