

LUNCH SGREENINGS

MOVIE SCREENING + GREENING = SGREENING!

Friday May 4 UNDP Rose room

Air and Life (2011)

A documentary about the problem of air pollution in Viet Nam and possible solutions for it. (25min)

Friday September 7 FAO library

Where have all the fish gone? (2010)

Short documentary about the management of the Mekong River. (21min)

Friday June 1 UNODC meeting room

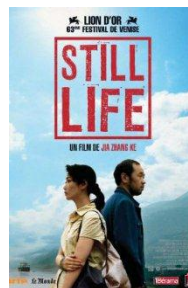

One Day on Earth (2011)

On 11/11/11 people all over the world shared their story. The One Day on Earth shows our world and the issues we face through a new lens. (20min)

Friday October 5 UNICEF, 5th floor (1st half)

Friday November 2 UN COMMS, 5th floor (2nd half)

Still life (2006)

A story that reflects changes in people's lives brought by the Three Gorges Dam, which flooded villages and led to the emergence of new settlements. (111min)

Friday July 6 UNICEF/WHO, 5th floor (1st half)

Friday August 3 UNICEF/WHO, 5th floor (2nd half)

Force of Nature (2010)

David Suzuki, iconic Canadian scientist and activist delivers a 'last lecture' giving reasons why he and we should care about the environment and the effects of climate change. (93min)

Friday December 7 UN WOMEN, Rose room

Getting REDD+ to work (2011)

This film discusses the challenge of implementing REDD+ in the Democratic Republic of Congo. (26min)

After two series of successful SGREENINGS, we are proud to present a new programme. Indeed, as part of the 'Greening the One UN in Viet Nam Campaign' Green Champions of different UN agencies are organizing monthly lunch SGREENINGS on Fridays.

Every first Friday of the month, a Green Champion will present a lunch time movie at the different UN cinemas. Each SGREENING will start at 12.15pm sharp followed by a discussion.

SGREENINGS will provide good movies, but not lunches. Please bring your own vegetarian lunch or contact Xuan at phung.thi.thanh.xuan@undp.org if you like to place an order.

Suggestions and feedbacks of movies are welcome at estefania.guallar@unwomen.org or join the debate on the Greening Campaign pages on the One UN Intranet here.

