

Enveritas

PROJECT MANAGER - VIETNAM

Summary

Enveritas is looking for an exceptional talent for helping set-up and lead its Vietnam operations. Starting period would be as volunteer for 6 months (generous cash stipend + covering of all housing, travel and work-related expenses), before converting to a long-term full-time position.

Background

Enveritas is a startup nonprofit that offers a new model of verifying sustainability in the coffee sector. It was founded in 2016 and is headquartered in New York. We have a diverse, global team with backgrounds in sustainable agriculture, management consulting, technology, data science, and public policy. To complement this team, we are looking for a highly-motivated Project Manager to help us enter the Vietnam market and manage projects.

We are building solutions for smallholder coffee farmers that are currently beyond the reach of existing sustainability certification or verification approaches. Consumers are increasingly asking if the brands they trust are “sustainable” – that is, produced under acceptable social, economic and environmental practices. Companies have responded by setting targets for becoming “100% sustainable”. However, existing approaches for verifying sustainability face challenges reaching farmers that are too small, too remote, or informally organized. We’ve developed a rigorous, scalable and transparent method of verification that works in this “underserved space” and are rolling it out globally.

The Role

Your role will be to assist Enveritas in kicking off and scaling up its Vietnam operations. Such project will involve taking on leadership on a number of specific projects: planning and delivering a pilot project, managing and guiding our partner, and adapting our verification methodology to Vietnam. Establishing the right basis for a long-term presence in Vietnam will be the underlying key goal.

Enveritas will invest heavily in your growth and success. We recognize that we will need to attract and retain exceptional talent in order to fulfill our vision of reaching 100% of the world’s coffee farmers across 30+ countries. You will have the backing of a global team with deep experience in coffee sustainability and technology to help you reach your goals. We offer a fun, open, flat, and agile work culture that mitigates the communication challenges posed by being a global organization.

Qualifications

- Availability for long-term commitment after an initial volunteer period (6 months)
- Availability for regular and extended in-country travels to coffee-growing areas
- Excellent academic record (top marks in a relevant subject)
- Clear track record of working in a fast-paced, team environment
- 2+ years of relevant work experience in consulting, business or finance
- Excellent communication and analytical skills
- Vietnamese national
- Fluency in English
